PROUD TO BE CARLISLE COUNTY OWNED AND OPERATED

Fiscal Court Appoints Patrolman for River Trailways, Discusses Roads

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The Carlisle County Fiscal Court began their August 21, 2012, meeting by recognizing the passing of Mrs. Alda Hogancamp. Mrs. Hogancamp served as Carlisle County Treasurer for 25 years, before going on to serve as the City Treasurer for the City of Bardwell for 12 years. The fiscal court recognized her service to the county.

The previous meeting's minutes were approved, and in the road department report, the county received their annual funds for roads in Carlisle County. Judge Executive Greg Terry addressed an article in last week's Carlisle Weekly concerning Arlington Mayor Bobby McGee and his disapproval of the timeliness that the extra road for expansion in the Arlington City Cemetery was being built. McGee stated that the county took in the cemetery roads and is acquiring money to build them, and the city was not getting the results they wanted.

Judge Executive Terry told the fiscal court that the road department was making their way around the county and performing the tasks that have been asked of them, and Arlington Cemetery is on the list. However, Terry told the court that the county receives funding to maintain the existing roads and doesn't receive money to build new roads. Judge Executive Terry did say that the road department does do all they can within the legal boundaries of law to help out the county it serves when it comes to the needs of the road system.

In the solid waste report, the county dumpsters are out and about and will be taking trash and other waste until the end of the month of August. However, the fiscal court wanted to stress that tires will not be permitted to be disposed of in the dumpsters. "We are allowing everything but tires," Judge Executive Greg Terry said.

In the ambulance report, it was reported that Ambulance Service Director Wayne Floyd researched the previous year's billing for the ambulance service, and under the new guidelines of the billing service the county could have had $140-150,000 more dollars in additional revenue if it was billed correctly. The fiscal court and county is looking forward to the new billing system, which will not cost the people of the county anything extra when it comes to ambulance system services.

The Carlisle County River Riding Trails was the next topic of discussion. The fiscal court made a motion to hire Terry Dale Hays as the patrolman for the river trails. Hays will patrol the area for 20- hours a week, mainly on weekends. His main duties will be to enforce the permits that are now in effect, and sell new permits to riders without them. If the Carlisle County Sheriff's Department is needed, Mr. Hays will be able to call upon them for further assistance.

Jerry Bowman, Carlisle County Road Supervisor, reported that signs will be placed this week in the bottoms marking off the designated riding areas.

David Elliott, Mike Massey and Glynn Grogan were in attendance to advise the fiscal court on a fishing tournament for the 4th Annual CarlisleFest. This year's CarlisleFest will be held on October 19th and 20th, 2012.

A fisherman's meeting will be held the night of the 19th and the fishing and weigh in will be held on the 20th at 4:00 p.m. Prize money was discussed, and it was settled that $1,000 will go to the first place winner, with payouts to the rest of the finishers depending on the amount of anglers in the tournament.

The advisory group told the fiscal court that advertising of the event was essential, and that the county could expect 18-25 boats in the contest, with people attending from not only Carlisle County, but surrounding counties and states as well.

In the Carlisle County

Jailer's report, Ronny Owens reported that there were three inmates in the Hickman County Correctional Facility and three inmates in the Ballard County Detention Center.

In the last bit of new business before adjourning, Jerry Bowman discussed a recent string of graffiti that has hit county bridges. The graffiti has been obscene and with the river levels down, families are taking their kids fishing near those bridges.

The fiscal court decided to put cameras near bridges in the county at various locations, and offered a reward for the conviction of any perpetrators.

After the approval of the transfers and claims, the August 21, 2012, fiscal court meeting adjourned.

Front Street Cleanup Discussed at Bardwell City Council Meeting

Rubble from the April fire has sat on Front Street due to lack of clearance from the Environmental Protection Agency

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The Bardwell City Council met in regular session on August 14, 2012. The previous meeting's minutes were approved, and it was time for the financial report.

In the financial report, the City of Bardwell cashed out a $50,000 CD to catch up and zero out the sanitation bill that was owed, get caught up with Hendrix Electric on work that was performed in setting up the new courthouse with electricity, and other various bills.

Bardwell will make their first payment in the new monthly billing agreement that the sanitation department and the cities agreed on, and for the first time in a long time there was enough money in the sewage and water accounts to pay the monthly bill off in full.

The topic of Front Street was also discussed before the financial report was approved. Mayor Philip King told the council that Bardwell has to meet with Summit Environmental and receive information on what has to be done and what the next steps will be.

Some of the materials that are currently lying on Front Street have to be moved to an asbestos certified waste dump, the closest one being Mayfield. The project is estimated at over $50,000 for clean up, and Mayor King said that that estimate was too much for the city to handle at this point. "We cannot afford to clean it up at that price. The city is currently exploring other options for clean up, such as acquiring grants to do an emergency clean up," Mayor King said.

The City of Bardwell resubmitted, for the third time, final inspection on the 2009 Ice Storm. FEMA had originally disallowed over $448,000 in reimbursements to the city. However, those were appealed and the city can expect to get a portion of that money back. Mayor King told the council that any money received will be put back into the City of Bardwell's CDs that have recently been depleted due to various emergencies over the past three years.

In the Purchase Area Development District (PADD) Report, Jeremy Buchanan told the city council that there have been numerous items on the city water tower project that Caldwell Construction did not complete, and the City of Bardwell had to finish. Buchanan reassured the council, after discussion, that the city would be reimbursed for that work that was completed, and that the city will have enough money to complete the water system expansion project that was included in that water tower grant.

Buchanan next reported on the city generator grant. Bids for those grants will be opened at the September 10th meeting, and will be advertised in the Carlisle Weekly.

The Bardwell City Council next reviewed the vicious dog ordinance. The city has had recent instances where vicious dogs have killed cats and attacked other dogs, all within the last few weeks.

To be a vicious dog, it has to make the list. That list includes Rottweilers, Chows, pit bulls or any mixes of those dogs. The city, after discussion, tabled the dog ordinance and will review it further.

Missy Martin was next appointed the Bardwell City Clerk. Martin took the place of Sue Ann Tolbird, who retired effective August 1st.

The first reading of Ordinance 83-2012 concerning the motor vehicle tax rates was unanimously passed. The city council agreed to use the same rates as last year, and not increase it.

With there being no further business the August 14th Bardwell City Council meeting adjourned.

Carlisle County/City of Bardwell Mourns Passing of Long Time Treasurer

Mrs. Alda Hogancamp served as Carlisle County Treasurer for 25 years and served as Bardwell City Treasurer for 12 years

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The City of Bardwell and Carlisle County mourned the passing of Mrs. Alda Hogancamp. Hogancamp served as the Carlisle County Treasurer for 25 years before moving on to serve as City Treasurer for the City of Bardwell for 12 years. Mrs. Hogancamp also provided tax services for many Carlisle Countians over her lifetime.

Bardwell Mayor Philip King told the Carlisle Weekly that the City of Bardwell was deeply saddened by the passing of Mrs. Hogancamp, and she will be missed greatly. "Mamaw was an inspiration to me, and I never had to second guess what she was thinking. She was always there when I needed something and was devoted to the City of Bardwell for 12 years. I will miss Mamaw deeply," Mayor King said.

Graveside services were held on August 21, 2012, at Roselawn Cemetery, where family and friends paid their tributes and respects to Mrs. Alda Hogancamp.

A Third Carlisle County Student Attended the Kentucky Governor’s Scholar Program

FRANKFORT, Ky. – Last week Kentucky Governor Steve Beshear congratulated 1,073 outstanding Kentucky high school juniors who attended this year’s Governor’s Scholars Program for five weeks in June and July.

There were three students from Carlisle County High School who attended and participated in the Kentucky Governor’s Scholar Program.

Last week the Carlisle Weekly featured Juniors Sawyer Rambo and Chaney Brown.

This week, due to a mistake in the listing of Governor’s Scholar participants, the Carlisle Weekly gladly showcases the third Junior who participated in the Kentucky Governor’s Scholar Program, Mr. Derek Hayden.

"The Governor’s Scholars Program is an outstanding educational experience for Kentucky, and one I’m proud to say both of my sons had the opportunity to enjoy years ago," Gov. Beshear said. "My congratulations go out to those young Kentuckians who had the great opportunity to share in this exciting program."

By participating, students have the unique opportunity to exchange ideas and discover different points of view while interacting with other students and learning new disciplines.

A statewide selection committee chose the participants for the nationally recognized program from nominations submitted from each Kentucky school district. Selection criteria included academic records and test scores, teacher recommendations, extracurricular activities and essays. The program is free to those who attend. Scholars spend five weeks on a college campus during the program, which this year was held at Bellarmine University, in Louisville, from June 17 to July 21; at Murray State University, in Murray, from June 23 to July 27; and at Centre College, in Danville, from June 24 to July 28.

Scholars balance a busy academie schedule in the sciences, mathematics, humanities and the arts with a variety of co-curricular activities and a rich residential life. They participated in community improvement projects, seminars and other activities often initiated by the students themselves.

Lt. Gov. Jerry Abramson took the opportunity to visit Governor’s Scholars Program participants at two of the campuses this summer.

"I was impressed by these bright young Kentuckians participating in the Governor’s Scholar Program," said Lt. Gov. Abramson. "These students have distinguished themselves through hard work and dedication. I have the highest expectations for them and for the future of a Commonwealth in which they become community leaders."

LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

Dear Readers,

This letter is in regards to the full page ad that was run in the Carlisle Weekly on page eight by McHugh Fuller Law Group last week regarding Countryside Health Care and Rehabilitation.

The ad was ordered by the McHugh Fuller Law Group through the Kentucky Press Association and the Kentucky Press Service, an association and service that the Carlisle Weekly has been a member of for years now.

The Kentucky Press Association’s Kentucky Press Service, One-Order, One-Bill, One-Check, system allows advertisers, such as McHugh Fuller Law Group, to advertise in a multiple number of newspapers to place the ads, collect the tear sheets and pay the total bill for the Kentucky Press Association’s services.

The KPS Advertising Office prepares the insertion orders, mails the ad and insertion order to the newspapers, collects all tear sheets and issues the client one invoice. The client then pays KPS for the advertising placed and KPS issues monthly checks to the newspapers.

From legal notices, such as the three page legal notice that ran last month for Kentucky Utilities, to ads for Kentucky Farm Bureau to the ad that is running at the lower right hand corner of page seven in this week’s paper, the Kentucky Press Service has ran the gamut on the range of types of advertising it has sent the Carlisle Weekly to publish over the years.

When the insertion order from the Kentucky Press Service came in last week I inspected the ad and made multiple attempts to contact the administration at Countryside Rehabilitation and Healthcare to discuss the ad with them and give Countryside a “heads up” that the ad was ordered by the McHugh Law Group. However, those multiple calls and messages went unreturned and as ordered per the insertion order sent by the Kentucky Press Association, the ad ran in the August 15th edition of the Carlisle Weekly Newspaper.

Last Thursday, I received a call from an angered reader about the ad and explained to them the process in which the Kentucky Press Association sends out insertion orders and how the papers that receive those insertion or advertisement orders publish them, thus the need to write this letter from the publisher to explain to you, the readers of the Carlisle Weekly, how the ad concerning Countryside Rehabilitation Center came about.

Upon calling the Kentucky Press Association, the same exact ad was run by the other paper in the county, the Carlisle County News, and in 11 other newspapers across the state, focusing on specific rehabilitation and nursing homes in those areas they serve. According to the Kentucky Press Service, all newspapers ran those ads as specified in the insertion order that was sent out, with none of them declining the insertion order.

Admittedly, the ad was very unpleasant for me to run. Countryside Healthcare has provided excellent healthcare services for years now, and has had only minor infractions in state audits to note. Director Sharon Cagle and her staff do an excellent job in keeping the building and facilities in great shape and their concern for the residents there is second to none, and

However, there are multiple advertisements in the past I have run that are unpleasant, some concerning the foreclosure of someone’s home or property, or ads such as auction sales of business properties that were lost due to bankruptcy.

Many of those people whose businesses and properties were foreclosed on were my friends or people I knew but, as in the case of Countryside, the ad was ordered by a customer and I ran the advertisement, per the insertion order that was sent out by the Kentucky Press Service, per the normal business practices of the Carlisle Weekly Newspaper.

I felt that I needed to make the process clear to my readers since I had such a high volume of questions.

God Bless,

Michael Toon

Reduce Your Grocery Bill

Released by Sara Bogle, Carlisle County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Sciences

You have probably heard that the cost of food is expected to rise next year. You can do several things to reduce your current grocery expenses and hopefully prepare yourself for the expected price increase.

One of the easiest things to do is to plan ahead. That includes making a meal plan for the week and making a shopping list based on the ingredients you need to fulfill your plan. Check weekly store sale ads and product coupons in the newspaper and online to find the best prices for the items you need. However, don’t buy something you don’t have plans for just because it’s on sale. Make sure sale items ring up with the correct price at checkout.

Avoid shopping hungry, in a hurry or with your kids, as all can increase impulse spending.

Wisely choose your shopping destination. For many rural consumers, convenience stores are the most accessible places to shop; however, they typically are one of the most expensive.

Instead of increasing prices, some companies are reducing their packaging sizes. This can increase your spending, as you will need to replace these items more often. When at the grocery store, check the item’s price per unit found on the shelf tag. The price per unit allows you to easily compare the costs of the product based on size. The price may be cheaper in a different size or brand. If your grocery store does not display a product’s price per unit, you can easily calculate it by taking the cost of the product and dividing it by its packaging size. Bringing a small calculator may be helpful.

Review your grocery purchases at least monthly to determine total monthly grocery expenses and individual product prices. You may be able to further reduce spending by eliminating things that aren’t necessities. Cheaper alternatives may be available for some of the more costly items.

For more information on lowering your grocery bill, contact your Carlisle County Cooperative Extension Service.

Lovers and Enemies of the Cross

I remember as a young lad being carried to church by my older sister. I still have the images of the old time preachers. They took their business very seriously. They would preach hard and there would always be an altar call where people were invited to come and receive Christ and/or receive prayer for some other need. There were always responses to that call. Those preachers always preached about the cross, the suffering of our Lord Jesus and the reason for it.

In this week’s scripture reading we find that in Paul’s day many had become enemies of the cross of Christ rather than lovers. (See Phil. 3:17-21) to save space we won’t print the scripture here but please look it up and read for yourself.

There are it seems many ministers today who do not mention the cross and the working out of the cross and the working out of the cross in the life of a believer. I know that not all of these are enemies of the cross, but some are. I know personally of a very well known ministry to be in any way connected with the ministry. They say it’s offensive, too Christian. Yes, it is Christian but every born again believer must come to that cross! Some of the old songs of the cross need to be revived in the church and in the heart of professing Christians.

Let us quickly view some signs of those that have become enemies of the cross. 1. The do not follow or submit to spiritual leadership. 2. Will not follow the examples before them of spiritual growth and maturity that comes as a result of the working out of the cross. 3. They glory in themselves, what I can do, who I am, Lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God, everything is reduced to how it will benefit me, myself and I in a natural sense. 4. Cannot see afar off, heaven, resurrection, the coming of Christ nor the destruction that awaits non believers and themselves unless repentance takes place. 5. Bring in damnable heresies, subverting souls, perversions, even denying the Lord that bought them.

Beloved, even the apostles of Christ did not really understand the work of the cross until after the resurrection. We have to see the Resurrection in order to understand the cross and the work of the cross. Otherwise, the only thing seen is just a dead man. When preaching Jesus we always preach the death, burial and resurrection just like they did in the Book of Acts and after.

When we become lovers of the cross it’s because we’ve become lovers of Him who bore it all on Calvary’s hill. We begin to embrace the cross because we embrace He who hung on it. Then we gladly take up our cross and follow Him daily, forsaking everything in order to know Him and the power of His resurrection!!!

The cross of Jesus Christ is a place of trade for all who will come in faith. We trade sin for forgiveness and righteousness, we trade torment for peace, bondage for freedom, sickness for health, and we lay down heavy burdens and walk away in liberty. We trade death and hell for eternal life and heaven!

I don’t know why anyone would not love the cross and what it stands for. Often times when I see someone with a cross necklace on I will ask, do you know Him who hung there for your salvation and freedom? Do you know Him today? Please don’t turn Him away!

God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ by whom the world is crucified to me and I to the world.

ONE PRESSON’S VIEW

By Kay Presson

The week’s One Presson’s View is dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Alda Hogancamp who passed away last Sunday morning.

Last Wednesday, after work, I visited Alda at Lourdes Hospital. She was in good spirits and very alert. When I told her she had a lot of people praying for her she said she appreciated their prayers. Her children, Michael Hogancamp and Jeannie Teasley, were with her.

Alda was a very intelligent person and retired as Bardwell City Treasurer. She served her years very well and was a true professional.

Alda’s passing is indeed sad and she will be deeply missed. She left a lot of good memories and my condolences and prayers are with her family.

This city council, on which I serve, has experienced many deaths of friends and family members during our two year term.

In conclusion, let us remember to tell our friends and family how much we truly love and appreciate them, for we never know when their passing will occur.

This week's inspiration

This week's inspiration from scripture verse Romans 12:18: This scripture verse admonishes us to live at peace with everyone as far as it depends on us. Even after 40, 50 or more years of marriage, married couples are still working on living at peace with one another. I read a story about one man's wife who always loves to pull off her shoes and leave them wherever she takes them off. They can be left in the den, living room, kitchen or bedroom. The husband at any time might find a pair of dress shoes, slippers or walking shoes in any or all of these places. Then when his wife needs a pair, she often asks him if he's seen them. Well, after many years, he's learned to answer gently by asking, "What was your last stop?" When they were first married, this shoe leaving habit really irritated him. But eventually, he learned to step over, around and sometimes on her shoes without getting upset. In Romans 12:18, Paul tells us to "live at peace with everyone" and we ought to start with the people closest to us. Peace, very much like charity, begins at home.

CRP Participants May Request Authorization to Conduct Emergency Haying or Grazing of CRP Acres

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) announces the opportunity for Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) participants to request authorization to conduct emergency haying or grazing on specific CRP acres. Authorization is based on a U. S. Drought Monitor designation of D0 or higher for Carlisle County on or after July 19, 2012. Eligible producers who are interested in applying for approval to conduct Emergency Haying or Grazing of CRP land located in Carlisle County must request and obtain individual written approval from FSA before any haying or grazing starts. Participants will be assessed a 10 percent payment reduction on their annual rental payment for the acres actually hayed or grazed.

Interested CRP participants are required to submit a request to FSA and obtain a modified conservation plan to hay and/or graze under emergency provisions. The same acres may not be hayed and grazed under the same emergency designation. Emergency haying or grazing is not allowed within 120 feet of any stream or water body. Specified portions of each field or contiguous fields must be left or grazed with limited stock for wildlife purposes.

Emergency haying or grazing is restricted to specific practices that are 12 months past being determined as fully established by the agency. Introduced and permanent native grass practices enrolled under general CRP practice eligibility are among those eligible practices. Continuous grass waterway practice CP8A is also eligible under an expanded authorization. Participants shall not start any haying or grazing activity until individual written approval is received for the CRP contract request. Approved haying authorization will end not later than August 31st.

Approved grazing authorization will end not later than September 30th.

To take advantage of the emergency haying and grazing provisions, approved participants can use the CRP acreage for their own livestock or may grant another livestock producer use of the CRP acreage for the purpose of haying or grazing.

For more information and to request approval for emergency haying or grazing of CRP acres, contact the Bardwell Service Center at (270) 628-5453.

NRCS Announces Grants to Help Farmers Adapt to Drought

Lexington, KY, (August 16, 2012) --- The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) announced the availability of up to $5 million in grants to evaluate and demonstrate agricultural practices that help farmers and ranchers adapt to drought. NRCS is taking applications for Conservation Innovation Grants (CIG) to help producers build resiliency into their production systems so they can adapt to climatic extremes, such as the historic drought impacting the nation.

State Conservationist for Kentucky NRCS, Karen Woodrich said, "Many of the counties in western Kentucky have been severely impacted by the drought conditions." She added, "This funding will encourage new technologies that should help farms become more resilient to drought in the future."

NRCS is offering the grants to partnering entities to evaluate innovative, field-based conservation technologies and approaches. These technologies and/or approaches should lead to improvements such as enhancing the water-holding capacity in soils and installing drought-tolerant grazing systems.

Grant applications are due Oct. 15, 2012. Private individuals, Tribes, local and state governments and non-governmental organizations can apply.

Funds will be awarded through a competitive grants process for projects lasting for one to three years. Apply electronically at www.grants.gov/ or contact the NRCS National CIG office at (703) 235-8065. NRCS is especially interested in projects that demonstrate: Cropping or grazing systems that increase resiliency to drought through improved soil health; Increases in available soil water holding capacity by enhancing organic matter with reduced tillage, cover crops and organic amendments; Improvements in water use efficiency for agricultural production; Coordination with NRCS Plant Material Centers in using drought resistant plants and practices; Recommendations for appropriate nutrient management following an extended drought; Analysis on a regional basis of how agricultural production and conservation systems fared during drought conditions; Agricultural approaches that flourished in low-precipitation areas; Traditional/historical production practices that have proven effective in dealing with drought; Alternative feeding systems for confined animal operations that incorporate novel drought-tolerant feedstocks; Alternative housing or cooling systems for improved energy efficiency and better climate control in confined animal operations; and Technologies that reduce water use in confined animal operations.

Waterfowl Drawing Date Set for Doug Travis WMA

FRANKFORT, Ky. – Dates are now set for the waterfowl blind drawings for Doug Travis, Lake Barkley, Barren River Lake and Green River Lake Wildlife Management Areas (WMAs). The drawing date for Sloughs WMA is pending and will be announced soon.

Those hunters interested in participating in the waterfowl blind drawing must be at least 18 years of age and possess a valid 2012-2013 Kentucky hunting license, a Kentucky waterfowl permit and a federal migratory bird permit (duck stamp) at the time of the drawing.

The waterfowl blind drawing for Doug Travis WMA in Carlisle and Hickman counties will be Saturday, Aug. 25. The drawing will be held at the Doug Travis WMA office, located a half mile south of Berkley on KY 123. Registration occurs at 9 a.m. Central time with the drawing at 10 a.m.

The Lake Barkley WMA waterfowl blind drawing will be Monday, Sept. 17. The drawing will be held at the shelter on the east side of the Cumberland River, near the Lake Barkley Dam, off U.S. 62 near Lake City. Applicants should use the Power House entrance then turn right toward the drawing location. The drawing will be held at 8 a.m. Central time.

The Green River Lake WMA waterfowl blind drawing will be Saturday, Sept. 29. The drawing will be held at the Green River Lake Corps of Engineers office off KY 55, approximately 7 miles south of Campbellsville. Registration is 9 a.m. Eastern time with the drawing at 10 a.m.

The Barren River Lake WMA waterfowl blind drawing will be held Saturday, Oct. 6. The drawing will be held at the Barren River Lake Corps of Engineers office at Barren River Lake dam, off KY 252. The drawing will be conducted from 7 to 9 a.m. Central time.

Hunters drawn for blinds on Doug Travis, Lake Barkley, Green River or Barren River Lake WMAs are responsible for locating, preparing and maintaining the blind site for the duration of the 2012-2013 waterfowl seasons. Each drawn hunter may select a co-owner of the blind site for use in the absence of the hunter drawn. The co-owner must be present at the drawing.

Hunters may construct a permanent blind or use a boat or portable blind, but each blind site must be permanently pinned with a permanent marker identifying permit holders for the site. Those hunters selected hold first rights for use of the blind site, but these blinds sites open to public use if the selected hunters are not in the blinds by 30 minutes before shooting time.

Foreign Land Owners Must Report

Lexington, KY, August 15, 2012 -- Foreign investors who buy, sell, or hold a direct or indirect interest in U.S. Agricultural land are required to report their holdings and transactions to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, in accordance with the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act (AFIDA) of 1978.

Agricultural land refers to land used for crop production, grazing use, orchards, vineyards, timber production, etc. Foreign investors who buy, sell, or hold a direct or indirect interest in U.S. agricultural land must file a report (form FSA-153). A foreign person is any individual who is not a U.S. Citizen, an entity that is a foreign government, an entity formed under the laws of a foreign government, or an entity formed under a U.S. law in which a foreign person has a reportable direct or indirect interest. A reportable interest is an interest held by a foreign person in agricultural land as a direct landowner, a direct holder of a leasehold interest for 10 years or more, or an indirect interest. Failure to timely file an accurate report can result in a penalty, with fines up to 25 percent of the fair market value of the land.

Persons who possess Permanent Resident cards (also known as I-551 or green cards) are not required to report under the AFIDA.

The USDA Farm Service Agency has been designated to collect the AFIDA reports. Completed forms must be returned to the FSA County Office where the land is located, or where the programs are administered. For more details on reporting requirements contact your local Farm Service Agency.

Backpack Feeding Program Needs Your Help

Feeding America, Kentucky’s Heartland (FAKH) is gearing up for another school year for the Backpack Program. Approximately 5,000 children are projected to be served this year. The children on the program are first identified by school officials for being at-risk for being hungry on the weekends. Once identified and a permission slip is signed by a parent, each child will receive a bag of 10-15 kid-friendly food items each week throughout the entire school year.

The Backpack Program was first launched in Hardin County in 2006 as a pilot program. After its success in Hardin County, the program has been expanded into other un-served counties in central, south central and western Kentucky to help address childhood hunger throughout the region. The Backpack Program is now available in 33 of 42 counties in the FAKH service area, one of those counties included is Carlisle County.

Depending upon availability and cost, 10-15 foods items are typically used in each Backpack bag. Examples include items such as shelf-stable milk, single-serve cereal, single-serve soup, single-serve mini meals (beef stew, ravioli, beans and franks, etc.) fruit cup, pudding cup, pop-tart, granola bar, oatmeal, juice box, etc.

A child on the program can be adopted for as little as $100 for an entire school year; a mere $2.50 per week. This year, the number of children adopted on the program for the 2012-13 school year has fallen short. Approximately 2,000 children throughout the 33 Kentucky counties served are in need of being adopted.

We need your help! If you are interested in adopting a child in your county for the current school year, hosting a food drive specifically for the Backpack Program, or if you have additional questions, please call FAKH at 270-735-1407.

FAKH has been providing emergency food assistance to men, women and children for 30 years.

CRP Participants May Request Authorization to Conduct Emergency Haying or Grazing of CRP Acres

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) announces the opportunity for Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) participants to request authorization to conduct emergency haying or grazing on specific CRP acres. Eligible producers who are interested in applying for approval to conduct Emergency Haying or Grazing of CRP land located in Kentucky must request and obtain individual written approval from FSA before any haying or grazing starts. Participants will be assessed a 10 percent payment reduction on their annual rental payment for the acres actually hayed or grazed.

Interested CRP participants are required to submit a request to FSA and obtain a modified conservation plan to hay and/or graze under emergency provisions. The same acres may not be hayed and grazed under the same emergency designation. Emergency haying or grazing is not allowed within 120 feet of any stream or water body. Specified portions of each field or contiguous fields must be left or grazed with limited stock for wildlife purposes.

Emergency haying or grazing is restricted to specific practices that are 12 months past being determined as fully established by the agency. Participants shall not start any haying or grazing activity until individual written approval is received for the CRP contract request. Approved haying authorization will end not later than August 31st. Approved grazing authorization will end not later than September 30th.

To take advantage of the emergency haying and grazing provisions, approved participants can use the CRP acreage for their own livestock or may grant another livestock producer use of the CRP acreage for the purpose of haying or grazing.

For more information and to request approval for emergency haying or grazing of CRP acres, contact the local FSA Service Center that administers the CRP contract.

Opportunity for Continuous CRP Enrollment of Highly Erodible Cropland

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) announced that continuous sign-up for the Highly Erodible Land (HEL) Initiative under the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) started on July 23, 2012. Kentucky received a total allocation of 39,400 acres to enroll in the HELI CRP program. Offers will be accepted until either the state acreage allocation limit is reached or September 30, 2012 whichever occurs first.

This initiative will accept offers with an erosion rate of at least 20 tons per acre per year for new cropland or CRP acres that expire on September 30, 2012; however, existing grass stands that are not considered expiring CRP will not be considered eligible for enrollment. Eligible cropland must also have a history of being cropped 4 out of 6 years, 2002 through 2007. Eligible CRP contracts set to expire on September 30, 2012, may be offered for consideration and approved contracts will become effective October 1, 2012. The contract duration is also 10 years.

A Special Thank You

We want to thank Countryside Care and Rehabilitation Center for all of their love and cooperation during the time our mother was there.

We also want to thank them for welcoming us into their home and letting us make them a part of our family.

We want to thank the other residents for being so nice and friendly as we visited with our mother. We thank the entire staff for their kindness and cooperation during her stay and we want to extend a special "thank you" to the CNA's, the nurses, the ones who administer medicine and everyone involved in her care. They all showed so much love and compassion especially in the last week of mother's life.

There are no words to truly express our gratitude and appreciation so we will simply say THANK YOU and we love all of you.

*Sincerely,
The Family of Zulema Puckett*
